January 2017

New programs this winter

Starting in January, the Library has some new programs for all ages.

“Incredible Infants” is a 10-week series just for new moms and their beautiful brand new babies. Moms and babies will meet together Friday mornings to enjoy snacks and social time as well as ask questions and gain information on various parenting topics.

Free, but space is limited. To register, contact Chelsea Hamilton at 503-367-9116 or ClackamasParent “Game Day” is every Sunday from 1-6 pm. Play one of our board games, or bring your own! Meet fellow gamers and have fun at this informal event. Open to all ages. Children welcome with a parent or caregiver.

“Curiosity Café” is a monthly event on the 3rd Saturday at 1 pm. Have a cup of coffee and enjoy monthly talks and workshops on a variety of topics to expand your world. The first Curiosity Café is Saturday, January 21, 2017: Biking Across America with Terri

Wortman. What does it take to bicycle across the U.S., and why would anyone do it? Find out at this talk.

Adult Winter Reading Program starts Jan. 3

Read books and qualify to win awesome prizes

during the dark dreary winter months!

This year we focus on the works of Science Fiction Grand Master Robert A. Heinlein, whose novel The Moon Is a Harsh Mistress celebrates its 50th anniversary of winning the Hugo Award. Explore a wide range of topics related to Heinlein, from science fiction (of course!) to Missouri, inventions, and more.

The fun starts Tuesday, Jan. 3. Pick up forms at the library, or download them from our website:
